

'TRAVELING TRUNK

You and your students can uncover the mysteries of money, banking and the Federal Reserve with our traveling trunk. The trunk is packed with hands-on artifacts with related talking points, as well as lesson plans and activities to teach money concepts. Over 30 lesson plans and activities accompany the trunk, and teachers will receive a packet of materials to keep for their classroom.

The trunk resources are suggested for grades 3-8, and the resources offer instruction in economics and personal finance, with extension activities in math, reading and social studies areas. Reservations are for two weeks. Shipping (if needed) is paid by the Federal Reserve. Email your name and contact information to megan.manning@kc.frb.org to receive information about traveling trunk availability.

FEDERAL RESERVE BANK of KANSAS CITY
—Omaha Branch—

The Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City – Omaha Branch is committed to promoting economic and financial education by providing free resources for teachers, students and the public. We believe that economic concepts can be integrated across the curriculum in all grade levels.