THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 12 · 12:30-1:30 PM
MISSOURI / PLATTE ROOMS, EMBASSY SUITES—OLD MARKET
Welcome Nebraska School Counselors!

On behalf of the Nebraska School Counselor Association, it is my great pleasure to welcome you to this eighth annual School Counselor Academy. We’re glad that you are able to join us and hope that the next two days are is both rejuvenating and educational. This year our conference theme is Reach Higher-Expanding College and Career Readiness for ALL Students.

The Academy is one of the greatest opportunities we as counselors have for professional development each year. Many of us are in districts where the PD is “one size fits all” and it can be frustrating when it doesn’t seem to apply to you. Not here! We have something for everyone. So check out what we have to offer and you’re sure to find something that you can take back and use immediately.

We are excited to welcome all of the first-time attendees and encourage you to network with others over the next two days. So much wisdom and experience to tap into! I would also challenge you all to become involved with NSCA through our many committees. I am confident that you can find a committee that would interest you. In addition, take advantage of all that there is to offer during your time at the conference. Stop by our vendors and be sure to thank them for supporting school counselors and NSCA. And at the end of the day, The Old Market is right outside these walls, so be sure to explore the area. Eat, drink, shop, and enjoy (but not until the conference ends each day, of course!)

I want to thank all of you for taking the time to come to the conference and hope that the experience energizes you as you work with students to pursue all the higher education possibilities that await them. So, again I welcome you to “Reach Higher!”

Have a wonderful conference and enjoy your time learning, networking, connecting, and rejuvenating.

Sincerely,

Kristy Clarke

Sessions | Thursday, November 12

Career Academies in Rural Nebraska
Lynne Webster, School Counselor; Boone Central Schools

Council Bluffs A

Boone Central is in our third year of implementation of our Career Academy program. This session will provide information to all schools: those just starting to develop career academies and to schools wanting to fine-tune and grow the academy they already have in place. Topics will include the ReVision process, establishing partnerships with local business, Rule 47 approval, resources available through NDE and contextualization of core academic courses.

No Excuses University: Bringing College Alive
Carrie Tubbs, Counselor; Field Club Elementary/OPS
Jenna Hunter, School Counselor; Lewis and Clark
Jill Parkert, School Counselor; Field Club Elementary

Council Bluffs B

In this session you will see and hear how one elementary school in Nebraska has brought College to life in their building through the No Excuses University Program. At our elementary school we believe in College Readiness. We believe that every student deserves the opportunity to be educated in a way that prepares them for college if they so choose to attend! NO EXCUSES! All of our students have a PLAN!

Building A College-Going Culture
Eric Drumheller, Assistant Vice President; EducationQuest Foundation
John Stanton, School Counselor; Platteview Senior High School
Amy Graver, School Counselor; Fremont High School

Platte-Missouri Ballroom

Building a successful college-going culture involves understanding your school’s current culture, carefully reviewing student demographics, and planning appropriate college-access programs and activities. Learn how two Nebraska high schools put these steps into action and increased their college-going rate using funding from EducationQuest Foundation’s College Access Grant. With or without grant dollars, your school can do the same.

Transitions
Noelle Baker, School Counselor; Seward High School
Kevin Fields, School Counselor; Seward High School

Elkhorn A

Successfully transitioning students is a key part of a counseling program. We will provide examples of the transition program at Seward Public Schools from 8th grade to the high school and then within the high school levels leading to graduation and post-secondary education.

Engagement Factors & Relationship to College Completion
Tami Wegener, School Counselor; York High School

Elkhorn B

Today our global economy is demanding a work force that is highly educated and skilled; yet many of our students entering college are not college ready despite all the assessments, increased requirements and state standards work this country has undertaken. The bridge between high school and post-secondary education needs to be built in order for this nation to move forward. This presentation will investigate key predictors of college success.

ADVISER Dashboards
Matt Hastings, Director of Research, Strategy & Support; Nebraska Department of Education

Elkhorn C

This presentation will showcase Nebraska’s educational data dashboard known as ADVISER from NDE-Nebraska Department of Education. The result of a nearly two year collaboration between NDE, ESUs, and nine pilot school districts, ADVISER provides near real-time information to teachers, counselors and administrators to support student achievement. Real-time data helps educators to respond more quickly for student interventions and the quick process can contribute to school’s continuous improvement. We will also highlight the timelines for onboarding new school districts interested in utilizing ADVISER.
Sessions | Thursday, November 12

ReVision
Jerry Wiggins, School Counselor
Randy Evans, Principal
Gothenburg High School

ELKHORN C
The ReVISION process can appear daunting to any school district considering it. However, our staff found it relatively easy and a great opportunity to reorganize and update our career / technical programs. More importantly, it started a dialogue between staff and community about college / career readiness skills. Discussion will include the counselor’s role, auditing programs of study, community input, developing action plans, implementing new coursework, working cooperatively with outside resources and implementing employability skills across all academic and career / tech programs (Habitudes). We’ll share experiences and insight as our district begins it’s 3rd year of the process.

Elementary College and Career Day
Kathy Brzon, School Counselor;
Thayer Central Community Schools

ELKHORN A
Student’s go to 4 different stations during the college/ career activity for about 7-8 minutes. The stations include a Kahoot game, question and answer session with current college students, “what I want to be when I grow up” photo booth and how to be successful in school bookmarks. A short discussion would be held after the stations on the importance of going to school and doing well in school can lead you to the career you want to have.

Career Readiness in CTSOs
Allison Kreifels, FCCLA State Adviser
Jacqui Garrison, FBLA State Advisor
Nebraska Department of Education

ELKHORN B
Career and Technical Student Organizations (CTSOs) play a vital role in schools and communities across Nebraska. However, their impact on students’ lives and more specifically, the college and career readiness of that student is second to none. Come with us to discuss promotion of CTSOs in your school, best practices for these organizations, and how you can help students build their college and career readiness skills as part of these organizations.

Keynote Breakout: A Conversation with Dr. Scott Solberg!
Dr. V. Scott Solberg, Keynote Speaker
COUNCIL BLUFFS A
This is an excellent opportunity to talk with our keynote speaker about Individualized Learning Plans and the lessons learned from research, policy and practice across the nation. It is also a great chance to ask questions!

Transfer Nebraska: An Essential Website for Every Counselor
Gabrielle Banick, Assistant Vice President for P-16 Initiatives;
University of Nebraska
COUNCIL BLUFFS A
Transfer Nebraska is a website resource on college course transfer among Nebraska’s 16 public postsecondary institutions. It adds transparency and is essential in assisting students, parents, and counselors in academic planning. Counselors will be able to respond to the question, “How will my dual credit courses transfer?” by attending this session. Transfer Nebraska addresses the ASCA standard of understanding that postsecondary education and life-long learning are necessary for long-term career success.

RESPECT: Safety in Dating Relationships
Patricia Newman, PhD Executive Director
Haley Haas, Training and Education Director
Moria Mangiameli, Artistic Director
Actor Educators of RESPECT
PLATTE-MISSOURI BALLROOM
RESPECT uses educational theatre to teach students and the adults who care about them how to talk about dating and intimate partner relationships - the work focuses on how to identify healthy relationships, how to stay safe when involved in relationships, how to identify appropriate boundaries, strategies for assertive communication and how to access resources for self as well as for peers who may be experiencing violence or abuse in dating relationships.

Setting Our Standards Higher: Sexual Abuse Prevention and Advocate for Students of Sexual Abuse
Cassie Hoffart, Master Level Counseling Student;
Wayne State College
Paula Peterson, MSE, PLMHP
COUNCIL BLUFFS B
This session will be about sexual abuse, its effects on students and the role of school counselors advocating on behalf of students. Presenters will share knowledge of sexual abuse victims and showcase Erin’s Law, which outlines sexual abuse prevention. Ideas and recommendations will be presented on how to get involved with advocating at the local and state level. We will also address the ASCA ethical guidelines regarding advocacy and the importance of school counselor’s advocacy.

Seeking Collegiate Athletic Eligibility for 2015-16
Ray Henning, Academic Adviser; University of Nebraska High School

Elkhorn C

How do you advise the high school student athlete who has aspirations of continuing athletic participation at the college level? This breakout session will look at new and updated information for 2015-2016 for the high school student athlete seeking eligibility to participate in collegiate athletics at the various levels of the NCAA and the NAIA.

What’s New at ACT?
Tim Osborn, Account Executive; ACT

Elkhorn B

So, “What’s New at ACT?” We’ll share new readiness indicators added to the ACT score report, new counselor dashboards for ACT’s free college and career planning tool—ACT Profile. Bring all of your ACT questions and we will address as many as time will permit.

Army Opportunities
Charles McKinley, Enrollment and Scholarship Officer; Creighton University Army ROTC

Elkhorn A

Army ROTC provides leadership training along with building critical thinking skills. Additionally ROTC has scholarship opportunities along with summer internship programs. ROTC will help to build valuable skills to set someone apart from the normal college graduate. Additionally for a member who goes on to active duty there are opportunities to live and serve abroad.

Twitter for Teachers & Chirps for Counselors
Dustin Favinger, School Counselor; Cozad High School

Elkhorn C

Twitter is one of the fastest growing social media platforms today. Learn how to harness the power of twitter for professional development, improved communication with students/parents, and sharing the successes of your students.

Journaling-Turn Your Story Into A Scholarship Winning Essay
Susan Mahoney, School Counselor; Omaha South High Magnet

Elkhorn B

Learn how to run a group session addressing both ASCA Personal/Social and ASCA Academic Student Standards regarding goal setting, effective communication skills, coping skills and identifying post-secondary options. This session will focus on helping students learn how to cope with stress, anxiety, and trauma through journaling. The session will demonstrate how to use group counseling strategies to help students feel comfortable sharing their story and further turn their story into an award winning essay.

RESPECT-Improv to Improve Discussions
*Patricia Newman, PhD Executive Director
Haley Haas, Training and Education Director
Moria Mangiameli, Artistic Director
Actor Educators of RESPECT*

Platte-Missouri Ballroom

RESPECT This session will be a more detailed program on how to use role play and improvisation to facilitate problem solving strategies with students as related to unhealthy relationships.

Hidden Reasons, An Open Explanation: Key to Academic and Emotional Success Explained
*Ruth Murray, Therapist
Movement Solutions, LLC*

Elkhorn A

A pyramid relating intriguing parallels between Maslow’s Hierarchy of Needs, the architecture of the brain, and neurodevelopment explores possible causes of difficulties young people experience in emotion regulation, attention spans, social skill development, anxiety, academic performance, and more. Resulting insights into these causes suggests interventions. Using easily learned holistic techniques, parents, professionals and children are finding freedom from issues they presumed were permanent or required medication.

College Board: Updates for School Counselors
Joel Gulko, Senior Director; College Board

Council Bluffs B

This session will include information on College Board’s redesigned assessments: SAT, PSAT/NMSQT, PSAT 8/9. An overview of the changes to the assessments along with tools for school counselors will be shared. Information regarding updates to the Advanced Placement program will also be reviewed.

Managing Classroom Mental Health
Nicholas Minardi, Ph.D., Counselor/Psychologist
Sylvan USD
COUNCIL BLUFFS A
This program is designed to promote student mental health services through the use of group and classroom counseling activities. This interactive and practical application based session is intended to be insightful, uplifting, and entertaining for those seeking encouragement, strategies, and resources for immediate use & implementation. Session handouts and additional materials will be made available via internet links.

Partnering for Change - Closing the Gap with Career Pathways
James Patrick Vogel, School Counselor;
Hastings Senior High School
Jamey Peterson-Jones, Early College Director;
Central Community College
PLATTE-MISSOURI BALLROOM
How does a school district respond when local industries cry out for a more motivated and highly-skilled workforce? How does a school district respond when local industries cry out for a more motivated and highly-skilled workforce? In Hastings, our response has been to partner with our community college, economic development corporation, and business and industry to produce dramatic changes through Career Pathways programming. Attend this session for examples on how school counselors can be change agents by forming partnerships for their students to open pathways to high wage, high demand, and high skill careers.

Working with Students Using Fables
Matthew Mims, Professor
University of Nebraska Kearney
COUNCIL BLUFFS B
In today’s world sometime students have difficulty relating to real life situations as they connect well with others through media and social websites. Simply put, they like a good story. Fables have been used for centuries to teach others through stories. Using Aesop’s Fables of old as well as more modern fables by Friedman, counselors can work with students and making meaningful connections.

Setting Our Standards Higher: Sexual Abuse Prevention and Advocate for Students of Sexual Abuse
Cassie Hoffart, Master Level Counseling Student;
Wayne State College
Paula Peterson, MSE, PLMHP
ELKHORN A
This session will be about sexual abuse, its effects on students and the role of school counselors advocating on behalf of students. Presenters will share knowledge of sexual abuse victims and showcase Erin's Law, which outlines sexual abuse prevention. Ideas and recommendations will be presented on how to get involved with advocating at the local and state level. We will also address the ASCA ethical guidelines regarding advocacy and the importance of school counselor's advocacy.

Future Teachers: Setting students on the right path to becoming educators
Autumn Lewis, Manager of Teacher Engagement
National Council on Teacher Quality
ELKHORN C
How do you guide high school students who want to become teachers? Come discuss your best practices with fellow counselors and learn about a new resource that can provide aspiring teachers with the practical advice and important information they need to make a decision about where to go for college. Learn what school students should look for in a teacher preparation program and student teaching experience so they are prepared for the challenging work of teaching.

Making a Difference
Mary-Beth Muskin, Regional Director
ADL
ELKHORN B
This presentation will review the legislation surrounding bullying and the “No Place for Hate” initiative to address this issue in schools. This initiative is designed to celebrate diversity while empowering members of the school community to challenge all forms of bigotry. By participating in “No Place for Hate” schools have the opportunity create a safer learning environment, promote unity and respect, and reduce bullying, name calling and other expressions of bias.

Power of Youth- Empowering Teens to Make Positive Choices
Sara Draper, Program Coordinator
Mothers Against Drunk Driving
ELKHORN A
Empower your students to make positive life choices by making the choice to not drink until age 21 and never to get in a car with a driver who has been drinking. This interactive presentation gives students the information they need to make positive choices for a brighter future.
Engagement Factors & Relationship to College Completion
Tami Wegener, School Counselor
York High School
ELKHORN B

Today our global economy is demanding a work force that is highly educated and skilled; yet many of our students entering college are not college ready despite all the assessments, increased requirements and state standards work this country has undertaken. The bridge between high school and post-secondary education needs to be built in order for this nation to move forward. This presentation will investigate key predictors of college success.

Demonstration: How to Get Your School’s Student Clearinghouse Information
Max Reiner, Data Research and Evaluation
Nebraska Department of Education
ELKHORN C

The state has already paid for the contract with Student Clearinghouse. Information about graduates of your school is waiting for you to use it! This session will describe how the Nebraska Department of Education acquires National Student Clearinghouse postsecondary enrollment data, and how schools may access and work with this data. The session will also introduce schools to NDE’s High School Feedback Report which uses NSC data to provide analysis about high school graduates’ postsecondary enrollment.

Secret Kindness Agents
Ferial Pearson, Instructor
University of Nebraska at Omaha
ELKHORN A

Moved by the Sandy Hook Elementary School tragedy, Ferial Pearson and her students started secretly carrying out small acts of kindness in school. And so they became the Secret Kindness Agents. They not only changed the lives of those they met, they changed their own. Their hope, their hearts, and their hunger for happiness will inspire you to change your small school, in your own way, for the better. Let them show you how they did it, and how you can do the same. The project addresses ASCA Standards.

Helping Students Solve Problems: Back to the Basics of Individual Counseling
Rick Richards, Special Appointment Instructor
University of Nebraska at Omaha
COUNCIL BLUFFS A

Why does it seem so hard sometimes to get students to make helpful decisions and solve problems in a positive way? Sometimes we wonder why our individual work with students doesn’t seem to be very effective. This session will be a review of the individual counseling skills that we all learned in our graduate problems, but may forget to use in the day-to-day world of being a professional school counselor.

Youth Suicide Prevention in Nebraska - School Counselors Can Help
Teri Perkins, Research Specialist
University of Nebraska Public Policy Center
COUNCIL BLUFFS B

This presentation 1) reviews Nebraska’s youth suicide prevention grant, 2) presents Nebraska’s plan to support K-12 suicide prevention training and 3) lays out the role school counselors have in reporting information for their schools. School personnel connect students at risk for suicide with the school counselor, who then makes referrals for services. The counselor role in student suicide prevention relates to the Delivery Quadrant of the ASCA Model and involves responsive and indirect student services.

Google Forms for Feedback
Dustin Favinger, School Counselor
Cozad High School
ELKHORN B

If your school is a Google Apps for Education School, come learn how the use of Google Forms can be an effective tool for quickly gathering feedback from students. Participants will learn how to create google forms and analyze the data from the responses. Google forms are great tools to help counselors learn about the needs and wants of their students when planning for programming.
Reaching Higher: A Simple Strategy to Transform America’s K-12 schools
John Baylor, Owner
John Baylor Prep
Platte-Missouri Ballroom
“Reaching Higher” explains why we should transform our K-12 schools, and then demonstrates how to carry out simple, inexpensive, and effective strategies to motivate students to reach higher. It’s not controversial; it’s not complicated. It’s just a simple action plan that creates consensus and enthusiasm. Educators expect that transformative results and minimal cost are rare companions in our nation’s schools, but that combination is found within this presentation. John Baylor Prep helps schools and families create two- and four-year college graduates with minimal debt.

ReVISION
Jerry Wiggins, School Counselor
Randy Evans, Principal
Gothenburg High School
Elkhorn C
The ReVISION process can appear daunting to any school district considering it. However, our staff found it relatively easy and a great opportunity to reorganize and update our career/technical programs. More importantly, it started a dialogue between staff and community about college/career readiness skills. Discussion will include the counselor’s role, auditing programs of study, community input, developing action plans, implementing new coursework, working cooperatively with outside resources and implementing employability skills across all academic and career/tech programs (Habitudes). We’ll share experiences and insight as our district begins its 3rd year of the process.

Susan T. Buffett Foundation Scholarship
Kellie Pickett, Director of Scholarships
Susan T. Buffett Foundation
Elkhorn C
The Susan T. Buffett Foundation awards new scholarships to more than 1200 Nebraska residents with financial need every year. The application is open for students planning to start college in fall 2016. The application is now mobile friendly, so some components will look different this year. This session will provide information to participants about the application process including changes to the application, common mistakes made by students, and ways to help your students do their best throughout the process. This session connects to the following parts of the ASCA Model: Academic/Career Development Standards-Financial Aid, and Direct Services-Individual Student Planning.

Caring is Sharing - Forum Discussion
Laurie Fitzpatrick, NSCA Elementary VP
Josie Willmes, NSCA Middle School VP
Josette Taylor, NSCA High School VP
Elkhorn A
Calling all counselors to gather together in an open forum sharing session of your best practices/tips/tricks. By nature counselors are humble and don’t like to boast but this is the time to share with others the great ways you are reaching kids at all levels in school counseling activities.

A Discussion: Proposing change in requirements for NE School Counselor Endorsement?
A Panel of NSCA Board Members and Postsecondary Counselor Educators from UNK, UNO, WSC, & NSCA Board Members
Council Bluffs B
In the near future, the requirements to be a School Counselor in Nebraska will be reviewed. In preparation we are seeking input. What do you think? Should requirements stay the same or change? The panel will begin the discussion around some key considerations of school counselor endorsements. Attending counselors are encouraged to participate and add to the discussion. Some suggested proposals will be shared. Input, feedback and additional proposals will be sought out within the next several months.

The ASCA Mindsets & Behaviors for Student Success: K-12 College- and Career Readiness Standards for Every Student describe the knowledge, skills and attitudes students need to achieve academic success, college and career readiness and social/emotional development. The standards are based on a survey of research and best practices in student achievement from a wide array of educational standards and efforts. These standards are the next generation of the ASCA National Standards for Students, which were first published in 1997.

The 35 mindset and behavior standards identify and prioritize the specific attitudes, knowledge and skills students should be able to demonstrate as a result of a school counseling program. School counselors use the standards to assess student growth and development, guide the development of strategies and activities and create a program that helps students achieve their highest potential. The ASCA Mindsets & Behaviors can be aligned with initiatives at the district, state and national to reflect the district’s local priorities.

To operationalize the standards, school counselors select competencies that align with the specific standards and become the foundation for classroom lessons, small groups and activities addressing student developmental needs. The competencies directly reflect the vision, mission and goals of the comprehensive school counseling program and align with the school’s academic mission.

Research-Based Standards
The ASCA Mindsets & Behaviors are based on a review of research and college- and career-readiness documents created by a variety of organizations that have identified strategies making an impact on student achievement and academic performance. The ASCA Mindsets & Behaviors are organized based on the framework of noncognitive factors presented in the critical literature review “Teaching Adolescents to Become Learners” conducted by the University of Chicago Consortium on Chicago School Research (2012).

This literature review recognizes that content knowledge and academic skills are only part of the equation for student success. “School performance is a complex phenomenon, shaped by a wide variety of factors intrinsic to students and the external environment” (University of Chicago, 2012, p. 2). The ASCA Mindsets & Behaviors are based on the evidence of the importance of these factors.

Organization of the ASCA Mindsets & Behaviors
The ASCA Mindsets & Behaviors are organized by domains, standards arranged within categories and subcategories and grade-level competencies. Each is described below.

Domains
The ASCA Mindsets & Behaviors are organized in three broad domains: academic, career and social/emotional development. These domains promote mindsets and behaviors that enhance the learning process and create a culture of college and career readiness for all students. The definitions of each domain are as follows:

Academic Development – Standards guiding school counseling programs to implement strategies and activities to support and maximize each student’s ability to learn.

Career Development – Standards guiding school counseling programs to help students 1) understand the connection between school and the world of work and 2) plan for and make a successful transition from school to postsecondary education and/or the world of work and from job to job across the life span.

Social/Emotional Development – Standards guiding school counseling programs to help students manage emotions and learn and apply interpersonal skills.

Standards
All 35 standards can be applied to any of the three domains, and the school counselor selects a domain and standard based on the needs of the school, classroom, small group or individual. The standards are arranged within categories and subcategories based on five general categories of noncognitive factors related to academic performance as identified in the 2012 literature review published by the University of Chicago Consortium on Chicago School Research. These categories synthesize the “vast array of research literature” (p. 8) on noncognitive factors including persistence, resilience, grit, goal-setting, help-seeking, cooperation, conscientiousness, self-efficacy, self-regulation, self-control, self-discipline, motivation, mindsets, effort, work habits, organization, homework completion, learning strategies and study skills, among others.

Category 1: Mindset Standards – Includes standards related to the psycho-social attitudes or beliefs students have about themselves in relation to academic work. These make up the students’ belief system as exhibited in behaviors.
Category 2: Behavior Standards – These standards include behaviors commonly associated with being a successful student. These behaviors are visible, outward signs that a student is engaged and putting forth effort to learn. The behaviors are grouped into three subcategories.

Self-management Skills: Continued focus on a goal despite obstacles (grit or persistence) and avoidance of distractions or temptations to prioritize higher pursuits over lower pleasures (delayed gratification, self-discipline, self-control).

Social Skills: Acceptable behaviors that improve social interactions, such as those between peers or between students and adults.
