

Targeted Teaching Topic

Author: Sue Jurgens
School: Madison High School

Summary of Topic:

Student's Health Story

Main Curriculum Tie:

This strategy can be used in any course of study. The purpose of this activity is to discuss care for each other. Also express individual creativity.

Required Materials for Lesson:

Variety of materials for students to express themselves including art materials.

Background for Teacher:

Teacher will also share their health story.

Student Prior Knowledge:

Student health concerns may lead to further research.

Intended Learning Outcome:

Students will share their story of health concerns and hear from their peers. As a result, students will personally be exposed to health concerns which in turn will result in discussion of health care.

Instructional Procedure:

Each student will express their story of health. Whatever that means to them personally using writing or drawing skills.

How to Measure Outcome:

As a teacher, I hope to instill a caring classroom attitude. We all have a story of our life or someone important to us who has been affected by health issues.
