Learn about Project Learning Tree's *NEW*
"Discover Your Urban Forest" Curriculum!

• NOVEMBER 11 • WEDNESDAY •
• 6:30-8 PM VIA ZOOM • ONLY $5 PER PERSON •

We are offering a miniworkshop in conjunction with the release of this brand-new curriculum. During the 90 minute workshop session, we will focus our time on the "Environmental Justice for All" lesson which explores that while everyone has an equal right to a healthy environment, not everyone has access to one. In the activity, students propose actions to resolve various scenarios and then research issues related to environmental justice in Nebraska.

Discover Your Urban Forest is the first collection of activities to be released as part of this new themed series for educators. It features three brand new PLT activities for educators of students in grades 6-8 that invite learners to explore their urban environment and investigate environmental issues that affect their urban community. By inspiring youth to learn about the place they live, these activities help students better understand how the world works and what sustains them. Designed to be flexible, the activities can be used as individual, stand-alone lessons, or all together as a cohesive unit of instruction using a storyline technique. This new digestible bundle of PLT activities would work perfectly as a unit in a middle school classroom or afterschool program.
