You are required to use the standard Food Service Contract, NS-404-G. No other contracts will be recognized or approved.

Due Dates & Submission of the Food Service Contract

- For renewing centers, the food service contract, NS-404-G, shall be submitted as a supporting document with your CACFP agreement. These are due June 1.
- If you are contracting with a school for meals for a school-year meal service, the due date is August 15 or prior to the first date of meal service.
- For centers new to the CACFP, the food service contract, NS-404-G, is a supporting document which becomes part of the institution's application to participate in the Child and Adult Care Food Program. The contract is submitted with the Program Application and Agreement to participate in the CACFP.
- For participating centers that are changing from self-prepared meals to vended meals, the due date is 14 calendar days prior to the beginning date of the contract.

The Nebraska Department of Education shall respond to any request for approval within 10 working days of receipt.

This may be done by letter, telephone, email or fax (402) 471-4407. This notification must include the effective date of the change. Procurement Procedures

Section 226.2 of the Child and Adult Care Food Program (CACFP) regulations defines a Food Service Management Company (FSMC) as “an organization other than a public or private nonprofit school, with which an institution may contract for preparing and, unless otherwise provided for, delivering meals, with or without milk, for use in the Program.” Another type of contractor is a vendor or supplier which provides specific food or nonfood products.

As with all other federal funds, the primary objective of these procedures is to ensure maximum open and free competition. With the exception of FSMC (as defined above) contracts, it should be noted that all procurement contracts awarded under the CACFP may not exceed a term of one year and may not be renewed noncompetitively. FSMC contracts also may not exceed a term of one year, but may be renewed noncompetitively for up to four years.

Contracting with a school

Institutions that contract for meals from a school food authority (SFA) are exempt from these procedures to the extent that contracts with SFAs may be procured noncompetitively. This means you may contract with a school that participates in the National School Lunch Program without soliciting or advertising for bids. If the contract exceeds $50,000 the center must submit the contract to the Nebraska Department of Education Nutrition Services office for review before accepting the bid and signing the contract.

Competition

All procurement transactions will be conducted in a manner providing full and open competition. Some of the situations considered to be restrictive of competition include but are not limited to:

- 1) placing unreasonable requirements on firms in order for them to qualify to do business,
- 2) requiring unnecessary experience and excessive bonding,
- 3) noncompetitive pricing practices between firms or between affiliated companies,
- 4) organizational conflicts of interest,
- 5) specifying only a “brand name” product instead of allowing “an equal” product to be offered and describing the performance of other relevant requirements of the procurement, and
- 6) any arbitrary action in the procurement process.

Method of Procurement

For a single contract procurement with a total value $250,000 or less, any of the methods may be used. For a contract procurement with a total dollar value more than $250,000, you must use one of the following methods: competitive sealed bids, competitive negotiation or non-competitive negotiation.

Small Purchase Procedure

If the contract is for $250,000 or less, you may use the Small Purchase Procedure. The contractor is identified without formal advertising or publication. However, price or rate quotations must be obtained from an adequate number of qualified sources. These price or rate quotations must be documented and maintained on file at the institution and identified on Attachment A.

Competitive Sealed Bid

If the contract is for more than $250,000, use a Competitive Sealed Bid or Invitation for Bid (IFB). Sealed bids must be publicly solicited by advertising in a newspaper of general circulation and a firm-fixed-price contract (lump sum or unit price) is awarded to the responsible bidder whose bid, conforming with all the material terms and conditions of the invitation for bids, is lowest in price. In order for sealed bidding to be feasible, appropriate conditions must be present, including, at a minimum, the following:

- 1) a complete, adequate and realistic specification or purchase description;
- 2) two or more responsible bidders willing and able to compete effectively for the business;
- 3) the procurement lends itself to a firm fixed-price contract, and selection of the successful bidder can appropriately be made principally based on price.

When using sealed bidding for procurement, the following requirements apply:

- 1) The contractee (CACFP institution) determines sufficient lead time (at least 14 calendar days), prior to the date set for opening of bids, for bids to be solicited from an adequate number of known suppliers, and the invitation to bid is publicly advertised in a newspaper of general circulation.
- 2) The invitation for bids, including specifications and pertinent attachments, clearly defines the items or services needed in order for the bidders to properly respond to the invitation.
 - a. The IFB shall not:
 - i. Provide for loans, other monetary benefits, or include terms and conditions made to the CACFP Institution that may influence the contract award;
 - ii. Include non-food items except where such items are essential to the conduct of the food service; or
 - iii. Specification for ethnic or religious needs unless special requirements are necessary to meet the needs of the participants to be served.
- 3) All bids are opened publicly at the time and place stated in the public announce for the invitation for bids.
- 4) A firm fixed-price contract award is made in writing to the lowest responsive and responsible bidder.
- 5) Any or all bids may be rejected by the contractee, if there is a sound documented reason.

Competitive Negotiation

The request for proposal (RFP) is advertised and proposals are requested from a number of sources. Negotiations are normally conducted with more than one of the sources submitting offers. The negotiation process may be repetitive in nature. Either a fixed-price or cost-reimbursable contract is awarded, as appropriate. Competitive negotiation may be used even if conditions are not appropriate for formal advertising.

If competitive negotiation is used for procurement, the following requirements apply:

- 1) Initial specifications are provided and proposal solicited from an adequate number of qualified sources to permit reasonable competition consistent with the nature and requirements of the procurement. The RFP is publicized by advertising in a newspaper of general circulation and reasonable requests by other sources to compete are honored.
- 2) The RFP identifies all evaluation factors, including price or cost where required, and their relative importance to each other.
- 3) The contractee is responsible for technical evaluation of the proposals received, determination of responsible proposals for the purposes of written or oral discussion, and contract award selection.
- 4) After each round of negotiation, the specifications may be redrafted to include the best terms of each proposal. Proceed to Step 1. At such time as the proposals provide the most advantageous position for the contractee, proceed to the next step. The award is made to the responsible offeror whose proposal is most advantageous to the contractee, price and other factors considered. Unsuccessful offerors are notified promptly.

Non-competitive Negotiation

Non-competitive negotiation is used to develop terms of the contract in cases where a proposal was solicited from only one source, or in cases where proposals were solicited from multiple sources but the competition is determined by the contractee to be inadequate. Non-competitive negotiation may be used only when the awarding of a contract is not possible under any of the other procedures (small purchase, competitive bidding with formal advertising, or competitive negotiation). Non-competitive negotiation may be used only under the following circumstances:

- 1) The item/service is available only from a single source; or
- 2) Public urgency or emergency exists which does not permit delays associated with competitive solicitation for the service; or
- 3) After solicitation of a number of sources, competition is determined inadequate by the contractee.

Sample Print Advertisement when advertising for bids

Hokey's Hideaway Inc., a licensed day care center, is soliciting bids from vendors to provide meals under the requirements of the Child and Adult Care Food Program (7 CFR 226.20). The request for proposal and bid specifications may be obtained by contacting: Jane T. Hokey, Hokey's Hideaway, 1200 Pioneer Place, Any Town, NE 68509. Telephone: (402) 555-5555. Sealed bids must be received at that address no later than April 1, 2016. Bids will be opened at 5:30 p.m. on April 2 at the same address. Proposals must remain valid for 60 days and offer firm-fixed prices for the current fiscal year.

Table 1. Contract Cost Worksheet

Check if the meal will include milk, the number of meals expected to be served daily, the number of days that meals will be served annually during the term of the contract, and the cost per meal. Multiply the number of meals served daily by number of days served by cost to get a subtotal for each meal. If there is a delivery charge, multiply the daily charge by the number of days that meals will be delivered. Total the numbers in the last column to get the Total Annual Cost.

Things to know about contracting for food service

Communication is important with food service vendors

More and more child and adult care centers are contracting with food service vendors or schools to prepare some or all of the meals served at their centers. Many factors contribute to the decision to contract for meals. Lack of adequate meal preparation facilities, cost and convenience are just a few of the reasons centers contract for meals.

Just because a center contracts for meals, this does not eliminate the responsibility of complying with regulations governing the Child and Adult Care Food Program. It is important for center personnel to be familiar with the meal pattern requirements of the CACFP to assure that children and adult participants are served creditable and reimbursable meals. Remember - if your contractor does not provide a creditable meal you may not claim reimbursement if the meal pattern is not met.

During compliance reviews, our staff occasionally finds contracted meals that do not meet the meal pattern requirement. Deductions are made for these meals. By being aware of the CACFP meal pattern requirements and communicating with your contractor, you can avoid these deductions. The standard food service contract provided by Nutrition Services stipulates that the contractee will NOT pay for meals that do not meet meal pattern requirements or that have been disallowed for reimbursement by state agency or federal reviewers.

Frequently Asked Questions

Q: What should I do if the meal delivered by my contractor does not meet CACFP meal pattern requirements?

A: Notify the contractor or school immediately that the meal does not meet CACFP meal pattern requirements. If time allows, the contractor may be able to provide the necessary component(s) for a reimbursable meal. If the contractor is not able to provide the required component(s), your center does NOT have to pay for that meal. It's a good idea to notify your contractor in writing of the date of the meal service and the deficiencies in the meal provided. Include a statement that the center will not pay for meals that do not meet CACFP meal pattern requirements, as per your contract. You may not claim incomplete meals for reimbursement.

Q : Can I claim the meal for reimbursement if I supplement a deficient contracted meal with foods on hand at my center?

A: Yes, if the meal pattern requirements are met for all food components. Once, a reviewer from our staff encountered a situation during a compliance review where the contractor had delivered the meal to the center, but dropped an entire tray of cornbread during the delivery. The contractor did not have enough cornbread to complete the meal. For illustration purposes, let's say the contractor provided 75 meals that met the meal pattern requirements and 25 that did not. The center was not obligated to pay the contractor for the number of meals that were not provided by the contractor - in this example, 25. The center had several loaves of bread on hand, which were served to the children who did not receive cornbread. Therefore, all of the meals were eligible to be claimed for reimbursement.

Section C. Resources

Revised April 2023

Q : My center is in a small community. The contractor is the only viable source for meals in this town. I don't want them to get mad at me if I say I'm not going to pay for the meals. What can I do?

A: It's important that you and your contractor have an understanding of the federal regulations and requirements of the contract up front. Make sure that the contractor has a copy of the federal regulations which specify the meal pattern requirements, a copy of the Food Chart, and the resource book Crediting Foods in the Child and Adult Care Food Program. Contact Nutrition Services or visit the Nutrition Services web site (<https://www.education.ne.gov/NS/>) if you need additional copies of these resources. Agree to a month's worth of menus or a set of cycle menus up front. Point out to the contractor before the contract is signed that you are not able to pay for meals that do not meet the meal pattern requirement. You may want to arrange for the contractor to supply extra bread and canned fruits and vegetables for you to have on hand as a back-up, in case a component might be overlooked and not delivered. The main thing is to make sure that you and your contractor have agreed to this in the beginning - before any potential problems may arise. Your responsibility is to provide a reimbursable meal for the participants at your center. Plan for these situations in advance and agree to them as part of the written contract.

Q : What does the contractor have to do for CACFP paperwork?

A: The contractor must maintain records to document food production and other obligations the contractee (the center) may need to meet its CACFP responsibilities under 7 CFR 226.6(i)(5). These records must be available for inspection and/or audit by representatives of the Nebraska Department of Education, the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the U.S. General Accounting Office and the USDA Office of Inspector General.

These records must be retained for a period of three years from the date of receipt of final payment under the contract, or in cases where an audit remains unresolved, until such time as the audit is resolved. The contractor is not required to use the production record form required by Nutrition Services for centers preparing their own meals.

Q : What if the contractor delivers food that is spoiled or otherwise unfit to serve?

A: By all means, do NOT serve any unwholesome foods to your participants. As per the contract, the center has the right to inspect and determine the quality of food delivered and reject any meals which do not comply with the requirements and specifications of the contract. The contractor shall not be paid for unauthorized menu changes, incomplete meals, meals not delivered within the specified delivery time period, meals which are spoiled or unwholesome at the time of delivery, potentially hazardous foods delivered between the temperature of 45 F - 140 F, and meals rejected because they do not comply with the specifications. The center shall notify the contractor in writing as to the number of meals rejected and the reasons for the rejection.

Q : Can the Department of Education intervene if I have problems with my contractor?

A: No. The Nebraska Department of Education does not have an agreement with the contractor, only with participating institutions. It is your responsibility to resolve any problems you have with your contractor. The food service contracts may be terminated by either party upon submission to the other party of written notice at least 30 days prior to the date of termination. The CACFP institution must send a copy of the termination letter to the Nebraska Department of Education.

If you have specific questions regarding your food service contract, contact Nutrition Services toll free at (800) 731-2233 or (402) 471-2488 in Lincoln.
