Heat Safety Bags Available for Recruitment

While the country is cooling down in many areas, we are partnering with IDEA to make available heat safety kits. These kits include supplies that can help farmworkers learn more about ways they can combat dehydration and heat related sicknesses. As they are provided information can be shared that can be very helpful for farmworkers related to essential electrolytes to help workers in high heat environments at risk of dehydration they include cooling towels, a thermometer, ice packs and more.

We are pleased to announce that iSOSY will continue working in partnership with Fort Scott Community College to offer the OSHA 10-Hour General Industry Course to one student from each of the consortium states. Preference should be given to students who are Out-of-School Youth (OSY) but a secondary at-risk youth may also be nominated to take the course. Please note that service providers will need to have approval by their MEP state director in order to submit the application.

The course begins on November 16th for students (one per state) in either English or Spanish. The OSHA 10-Hour General Industry Course graduates will receive their OSHA 10-Hour Wallet Card and completion certificates.

A successful student will be motivated to pursue and complete a self-paced, self-directed course. (Bilingual support is available throughout the course.)

Service providers must commit to frequent check-ins with their student(s) to engage with them as often as necessary to keep them motivated and on track. While service providers will not have direct access to the course, the facilitator is available to them at any time to discuss ways to help support the student. (More details will be discussed at the mandatory Service Provider Introductory Meeting on November 9.)

The Student Application is found here:

<https://forms.gle/QEtVbc7sDk9faTLBA>

Please note these important dates:

- November 1: Applications due
- November 9 (11 am CST): Mandatory Service Provider Introductory Meeting
- November 16: Course begins
- December 15: Fall break begins
- January 16: Class resumes
- February 29: Class ends

Each student will need to provide their full name, a reliable email, and choice of English or Spanish to the FSCC instructor by the application deadline on November 1. This information is needed to register the students in the course.

The student should expect to spend approximately four (4) hours per week on content. However, this is self-paced, and a student can complete much sooner than the allotted course window. One of the students last year completed the course in less than three weeks!

FSCC will provide a bilingual instructor, Santos Manrique. The instructor will register each student and provide the login credentials to the student via email. The student will need to notify the instructor at registration if the Spanish version is required.

Standard Response Protocol/Standard Reunification Method Train the Trainer Workshop

Nebraska Department of Education

REGISTER HERE

<https://bit.ly/46UTCRh?r=qr>

The Standard Response Protocol (SRP) and Standard Reunification Method (SRM) are used for crisis response and post-crisis reunification in more than 30,000 schools, districts, departments, agencies, organizations, and communities around the world.

The Full Day Train the Trainer Workshop introduces the history, concepts, and functionality of these programs and how to train the programs internally.

Participants will walk away from the workshop with a deep understanding of how the SRP provides a proven, action-based enhancement to all-hazards school safety planning. After learning about the five actions of the SRP, and their associated directives, participants will be able to implement the program and enhance the safety plans of their school/district.

Additionally, participants will gain an understanding of the proven methods for planning, practicing, and achieving a successful reunification using the SRM. They will walk away from the training with the ability to organize a reunification team in their school/district and create an effective reunification plan.

Local View: 50 years of better justice MICHAEL G. HEAVICAN Oct 4, 2023

The Nebraska Judicial Branch is commemorating the Legislature's passage of Neb. Rev. Stat. §25-2401 — Interpreters; public policy.

This milestone not only acknowledges our commitment to a fair and impartial legal system, but also highlights the need for continued progress and improvement to ensure deaf, hard of hearing, and limited English proficient (LEP) court users have access to our courts and probation services.

Before the implementation of language access services in the Nebraska Judicial Branch, individuals who did not speak English faced significant barriers when seeking justice. They often struggled to understand court proceedings, couldn't effectively communicate with their attorneys and were at a disadvantage when trying to defend their rights; likewise, judges, jurors and lawyers could not understand non-English speaking litigants and witnesses.

Data Resources

Each month we will be sharing a few data resources. This month we are focusing on some EXCEL resources.

XLOOKUP is one of the best new functions in Excel. With Xlookup you can search two separate data ranges a lot easier than with Vlookup. Xlookup always searches for the exact match by default! Search Horizontally or Vertically. Use this function to find missing students between two lists.

- Start using XLOOKUP! 1 Minute Tutorial
- IDRC Xlookup Tutorial

Excel tables. An Excel table is not only a simple range of data with headings, but a specific object that unlocks additional properties. The table works as a whole, for example when you create a formula for one cell it automatically copies to the rest of the column. When you have a large amount of data, no need to scroll down to select it, just select any cell in the table and hit ctrl + A, and all the rows and columns in your table will be selected! Easily reference a table name to create formulas. These are only a few reasons why tables are great!

WE INVITE YOU TO SUBMIT YOUR 2024 NATIONAL MIGRANT EDUCATION CONFERENCE WORKSHOP PROPOSALS

This year, NASDME has an earlier deadline than in prior years to submit workshop proposals. We would, therefore, like to remind you that the Portal for Workshop Proposals is open and we welcome your submissions. Please work on your proposals now!

Are you proud of the way your program works, do you have great successes you want to talk about, do you have innovative ideas for the MEP?

We encourage all of you to submit a workshop proposal now for the 2024 National Migrant Education Conference in Portland, Oregon April 21 to April 24.

We plan on 175 workshops at the Conference, so we welcome any and all proposals to present!

Please remember that if your position is funded by Title I, Part C Migrant Education Program funds or your travel is funded by the MEP, you must get your State MEP Director to approve your proposal prior to submitting it to NASDME.

Proposals are due no later than Friday, December 8, 2023. This deadline will come up quickly.

We do encourage you to submit your proposals early, before that date. We will make a strong effort to review proposals submitted early, as they arrive.

Please note that even if you have established an email and password for workshop proposals for prior conferences, the system did not retain that information and you will need to re-establish an email and password for this year. (It can be the same as the one you have used in the past. You just have to re-enter the information as if you never have done that before.)

Help make this Conference the best we have ever had! See you in Portland!

BULLETIN

Three consulates serving migrants in Nebraska shared information during an event Aug. 17 event in Bellevue. (Courtesy of Bellevue University)

Guatemalan Embassy Opening in Omaha

OMAHA, Neb. (Nebraska Examiner) - A third Latin American government is setting up an Omaha office to serve its citizens who have settled across Nebraska — a sign of continued cultural shifts and an unprecedented consular presence in the Cornhusker state.

Contact information: 405-603-6628 and 405-603-6640

Consulate offices

Mexico, 7444 Farnam St.

Guatemala: 1010 N. 96th St.

El Salvador, 11422 Miracle Hills Drive

Foreign-born residents in Nebraska

Mexico: 48,302 (18% entered after 2010)

Guatemala: 9,926 (36% entered after 2010)

El Salvador: 5,576 (32% entered after 2010)

Source: U.S. Census Bureau, 2021 American Community Survey

When the Consulate of Guatemala officially opens in a few weeks, it will join the nearby Consulate of El Salvador, which established a local base earlier this year.

The pacesetter Mexican Consulate made its entrance back in 2000.

While separate entities, the three embassy-like satellites collectively reflect the growing influence of Latino immigrants, who account for about half the state's estimated 150,000 or so foreign-born residents.

Consider this data, from the U.S. Census Bureau and the Immigration Research Initiative:

- Foreign-born Nebraskans of all nationalities make up more than 7% of Nebraskans.
- That group represents 9% of Nebraska's labor force and 8% of its earnings.
- Mexico, Guatemala and El Salvador represent three of the top four countries with the most expatriates in Nebraska (India is the other).

The National Dropout Prevention Center (NDPC) exists to support those who work to improve student success and graduation rates. NDPC offers a wide range of resources and services to schools, districts, regional agencies, and states at no cost or at cost. You can download posters, tent cards and bookmarks to help spread the word during the month of October.

High dropout rates among migratory students are related to low school engagement and attendance. Therefore, the ideas and strategies contained within iSOSY's Dropout Prevention: Strategies to Assist School Engagement and Attendance were developed to address these issues with migratory secondary students. While the noted strategies could be useful for all students, migratory students often have added barriers to school engagement. The strategies and their applications are designed to help staff work with migratory students who experience low levels of school engagement.

REASON FOR THE STUDY OF STRONG STRATEGIES

The members of iSOSY are concerned that high dropout rates among migratory students are related to low school engagement and attendance. Therefore, the ideas and strategies contained within were developed in order to address these issues with migratory secondary students. While the following strategies could be useful for all students, migratory students often have added barriers to school engagement. The strategies and their applications are designed to help staff work with migratory students who experience low levels of school engagement.

HOW THE SUBJECT AFFECTS THE MIGRANT COMMUNITY

Migrant Education Programs (MEPs) are comprised of dedicated staff who work together to provide educational opportunities for eligible students and improve their overall well-being. The teams may include intervention specialists, teachers, instructional aides, recruiters, parent liaisons, program administrators, and others who work collaboratively to support students and encourage their school engagement and attendance. All of these MEP service providers who work with at-risk high school students and/or out-of-school youth (OSY) have a part to play in encouraging youth to re-engage in educational activities/return to school.

iSOSY created Goal Setting materials to give service providers and students a platform to discuss the importance of setting goals and the tools to get there. Those working many years in migrant education noticed that students - OSY in particular - are often confused when asked about their goals. Many have never had the opportunity to really think about what they would like to accomplish in their lives - academically or otherwise.

iSOSY also has Pathway Guides to help re-engage OSY along the pathways to HSED or credentials. Today, more than ever, having a high school education enables one to be more prepared for further learning and to have productive employment and a stable life. Credential/certification programs offer powerful opportunities to engage students. These programs can stand alone or be integrated as part of a high school or college education. They can be offered via a school district, through other local municipal offices, or through non-profit organizations. These guides will help service providers and students determine the best next steps.

The iSOSY Career Awareness Toolkit helps you and your student explore themes that are important when thinking about the student's future. It is designed for the service provider to address one unit, or even one question, at a time if there are time constraints. The toolkit can be used as part of an ongoing, deeper interaction with a student or as part of a one-time conversation. Remember that any extra information you can share can make a big difference later!

The iSOSY Career Awareness Toolkit is meant to help you and your student explore themes that are important when thinking about the student's future. DIRECTIONS: Choose a unit theme and discuss how strongly the student agrees with each particular question/statement (see scores). Explain the corresponding listed resources together and assess completion, note how much the student agrees (post score). Remember that any extra information you are able to share now can make a big difference later!

The Ripple Effect
One small change can have an enormous impact.

Additionally, you can also download a myriad of other resources to support dropout prevention. NDPC now offers online professional development in dropout prevention strategies for purchase in each of the 15 research-based Effective Strategies for Dropout Prevention. These 60-to-90-minute self-paced courses take participants through an exploration of what the strategy is, how it fits within the 15 Effective Strategies model, and the research supporting it, allowing participants to envision for themselves how the strategy can be implemented. The Standard Response Protocol (SRP) and Standard Reunification Method (SRM) are used for crisis response and post-crisis reunification in more than 30,000 schools, districts, departments, agencies, organizations, and communities around the world.

The Full Day Train the Trainer Workshop introduces the history, concepts, and functionality of these programs and how to train the programs internally.

Participants will walk away from the workshop with a deep understanding of how the SRP provides a proven, action-based enhancement to all-hazards school safety planning. After learning about the five actions of the SRP, and their associated directives, participants will be able to implement the program and enhance the safety plans of their school/district.

Additionally, participants will gain an understanding of the proven methods for planning, practicing, and achieving a successful reunification using the SRM. They will walk away from the training with the ability to organize a reunification team in their school/district and create an effective reunification plan.
