

Standard Reunification Method Reunification Exercise (SRM-REx)

Nearly every day, organizations worldwide experience some kind of incident requiring evacuation from their facilities. When these events occur at a school, staff must ensure efficient and accurate parent/guardian reunification with their students.

The Standard Reunification Method (SRM) provides schools with proven methods to conduct a successful reunification. However, many schools find they are unprepared as they struggle to plan and practice the reunification process.

In response to this need, The "I Love U Guys" Foundation has developed the Standard Reunification Method - Reunification Exercise (SRM-REx). SRM-REx brings our team to your community where we will work with all stakeholders who have a role in reunification, ensuring a common understanding of the process, establishing the use of common language, and strengthening the relationships that you have built with your stakeholders.

NDE School Safety is bringing this training to Nebraska and will conduct 3 separate SRM-REx within the state. We have a limit of 120 participants. After the registration is filled out due to the limited capacity, we will determine attendees based on districts and the number registered. Please register by February 23rd, 2024. For further questions, contact Scott Stemper, EOP Specialist, at Scott.Stemper@nebraska.gov
